

GearsChange

Promoting a change towards ethical, engaged and multidisciplinary professionals.

if you collect different pieces

University separates students in different schools, promoting unhealthy competence.

they will develop individually

During intermediate courses, they will keep specializing in their own schools.

and let them fit together,

GearsChange proposes shared common subjects during the first courses independently of their degrees, working together with students from other schools.

to create something bigger

They will finally have compulsory subjects based on projects between schools.

These projects must be of social, environmental and/or innovation scope. It will also be promoted doing, TFG/TfMs within transversal groups and these will also imply social issues.