

UNIVERSITAT POLITÈCNICA DE VALÈNCIA

ERASMUS+ MOBILITY FOR STUDIES. ACADEMIC YEAR 2027-2026

ANNEX I

UPV Academic Unit: Master's degree Programmes Unit

- European Master's degree in Sustainable Cropping Systems (Plant Health)

DESTINATIONS AVAILABLE

- F MONTPEL10 - L'INSTITUT AGRO MONTPELLIER (for the purpose of this call, all the French institutions are regrouped on the online application under this single code and institution name)
- D GOTTING01 - GEORG-AUGUST-UNIVERSITÄT GÖTTINGEN
- I PADOVA01 - UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DI PADOVA

Spots available: Maximum 5 per host university (for one semester or full academic year)

CALL FOR APPLICANTS ON THE AIRE PORTAL: "Erasmus 2026-2027 European Master's Degree PlantHealth"

DOCUMENTS YOU MUST SUBMIT WITH YOUR APPLICATION:

- Transcript of records of higher education degrees (bachelor's and, if applicable, master's), submitted during the application process to be admitted into the European Master's degree Plant Health, with an explicit reference to the average grade obtained.
- English language certificates (level B2 of CEFR or above).

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

The General Requirements are outlined in the document "Bases Generales" of the current call for applications. Particularly important: to be a self-funded student in the European Master's degree PlantHealth (i.e., student receives no other Erasmus scholarship from the PlantHealth Consortium)

SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS

a) Academic requirements

To complete successfully all the courses of the winter semester of the master's degree at UPV (September 2025-February 2026), as defined by the program:

Course content | PlantHealth - European Master's Degree in Sustainable Cropping Systems \(upv.es\)

b) Language requirements

English B2 of CEFR or higher.

Any document or certificate accepted during the process of admission to the Master's Degree PlantHealth will be considered valid. However, only certificates listed in Annex II of the present call for applicants will be considered as a merit for the ranking formula described below.

RANKING OF APPLICANTS / SELECTION PROCESS:

Ranking formula for the allocation of spots:

The spots available in the host universities will be allocated based on the ranking formula described below.

0,50 x Grade + 0,50 x Language

Grade = Average Grade of the undergraduate degree used to be admitted into the Master's degree in Plant Health. The grades of international degrees will be translated into the Spanish grading system using the following conversion table. For countries not included on the list, the conversion charts to be applied will be those provided by the Spanish Ministry of Education.

Language = Points will be allocated for each official language certificate of level A2 of CEFR or higher, as established in the chart below:

	Official certificates (*)	Erasmus level test on 14-15 December at UPV (only French or German)
C2	10 points	- -(level B2 is the maximum in the test)
C1	8 points	- -(level B2 is the maximum in the test)
B2	6 points	5,5 points
B1+	- -(this level is not used on official lang. certificates)	4,5 points
B1	4 points	3,5 points
A2	2 points	1,5 points

(*) Table of certificates accepted according to Annex II of the present call for applicants.

It is possible to accumulate points for different languages up to a maximum of 10 points. In cases where multiple official certificates are provided in the same language, only the certificate with the highest level will be considered.

For the purposes of ranking, only language accreditations attached to the electronic application within the official application period will be considered.

Selection process:

- Announcement of the provisional list with the applicants' merits: between 7 and 15 January 2025
On this website <https://www.upv.es/entidades/OPII/infoweb/pi/info/1230500normali.html>
- Period to file an appeal to the provisional list: 10 days starting on the day after the announcement of the provisional list, by email to opii@upv.es
- Announcement of the provisional allocation of assigned spots: between 31 January and 21 February 2024
On this website <https://www.upv.es/entidades/OPII/infoweb/pi/info/1230500normali.html>
- Period to file an appeal to the provisional allocation of spots: 10 days starting on the day after the announcement of the provisional list, by email to mobility@upv.es